

mother native

A collaboration between Native Swinson and mother + joey

HAPPENSTANCE

BACKGROUND

The concept of 'mother native' contemporary clothing was inspired by our native flora and fauna and our noisy children running through nature with wild abandonment.

Our first clothing collection is called 'Happenstance'.

'Happenstance' is handcrafted, hand screen printed and locally made. The garments are created using high quality linens and the patterns are hand screened with organically certified printing inks.

'mother native' playfully interprets the concept of 'matchy match but not too matchy'. Allowing for siblings and mothers to be dressed 'the same but different'.

We also have gender-neutral clothing items as part of our new collection and we are working on some lovely things to bring dad into the mix.

'mother native' loves the idea of a beautifully made piece of clothing retaining memory and being handed down from one child to another.

Why have the two existing brands come together?

All three of us have a mutual love of beautifully crafted garments that explore Australian design, this shared with our passion for the outdoors and family makes us a natural fit. In this collaboration we combine our diverse expertise to have some fun with the concept of matchy match.

ABOUT THE CREATORS

Artist and designer Kate Swinson created Native Swinson to satisfy her love for design and extend her art practice. Kate's work is inspired by the Australian bush. She creates wallpaper and fabric derived from her hand drawings using traditional crafting methodology. Kate is now thrilled to be designing clothes, until now, a secret love!

Shying away from mass production Native Swinson celebrates the hand of the maker whilst treading gently on the earth, making to last a lifetime not a season.

mother + joey began as two mothers, Peta Purcell and Rowena Campbell seeing a future in family fashion, which had purpose for themselves, their families and many more generations to come Hand-crafted in Australia, designed in their Hunter Valley workshop, they are proudly part of the minority who are making clothes onshore, supporting the 'slow fashion' movement and keeping the traditional skills of pattern designing, dressmaking and high-quality tailoring alive. Their style is timeless, and concept is unique – being Australia's first fashion label dedicated to twinning for mothers, sons, daughters (aka joeys) and soon dads.
